

Rooftop solar panels are out of luck

Overview

A sweeping domestic policy bill passed by House Republicans could spell disaster for the U. rooftop solar industry, potentially halving installations next year and triggering widespread bankruptcies, according to industry experts and analysts. Worse, they're being hounded to keep paying despite not receiving what they were promised. What can they do?

When you purchase through links on our site, we may earn. A decade ago, someone knocking on your door to sell you solar panels would have been selling you solar panels. Now, they are probably selling you a financial product—likely a lease or a loan. For all the good news -- big federal incentives and ever-increasing interest in renewable energy -- there's also been some not-so-great news, with some solar installers slashing jobs or closing down entirely. But that could soon come to a crashing halt.
