A controversial radio site north of Rome is set to become a solar farm as the Vatican pushes its green transition. The project preserves agricultural use and minimizes environmental impact;. The installation of solar panels on Vatican-owned land to the north of the capital follows the photovoltaic glazing of the Cortile delle Corazze and the Vignaccia warehouse of the Vatican Museums (350 kilowatts peak for a total production of 500 megawatt hours) and the 5,000 square metre roof of. The Vatican is set to become the world's first carbon-neutral state through a groundbreaking initiative that involves transforming a 1,000-acre field north of Rome into a large solar farm. This ambitious project, which has received approval from the Italian government, aims to generate sufficient.
